

Summary

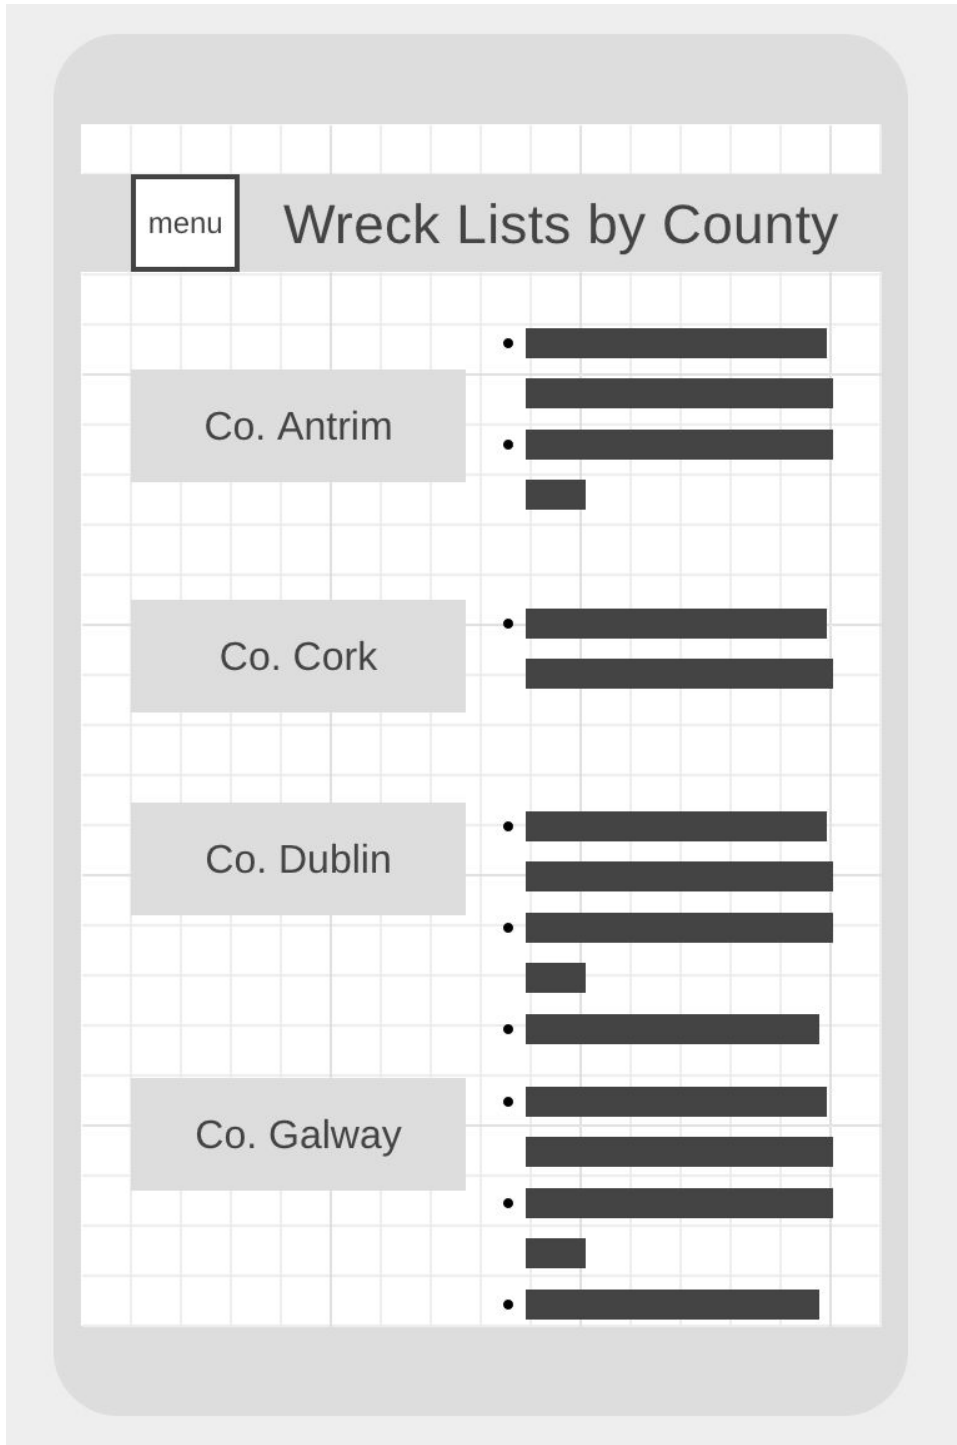

This site is a living database of shipwrecks along the Irish coast, with the main goal of serving as “a diver’s guide to the shipwrecks around Ireland”. It provides visitors a wealth of information about sites, ships, and previous dives, along with references to further reading. The site’s objectives are to provide accurate and up to date information on Irish shipwrecks, build a repository of resources and materials, and collaborate with users to maintain accurate information. The site’s target audience is first and foremost divers who are either interested in wreck-diving on the coast of Ireland or have already done so and can contribute information. The second is history buffs with an interest in Irish naval history. In order to appeal to both of these groups, the site will balance its focus between current diving conditions at the wreck sites with historical information about the ships found there. This information will be available on each page, as it is likely that the two groups have some overlap.

Diving is a dangerous hobby, and diving at wreck sites even moreso. As such, this site will present a clean and precise tone in order to communicate the necessary information clearly to users. The design will use a blue as a dominant hue paired with neutral greys and greens to reference the colors of the Irish coast. It will feature a mixture of naval and diver photography, which will consist of stock photos at the beginning, but as users contribute to the site it will feature their contributions. The homepage will tie into the site’s main goal: to be a diver’s guide.

Layout

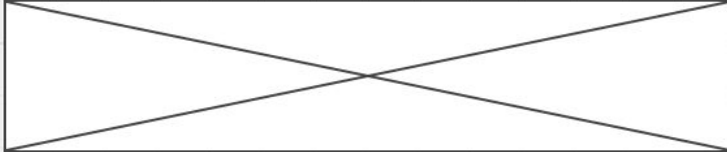

Homepage Mobile View

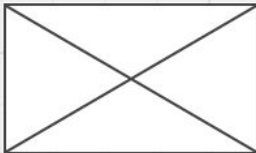

S. S. Example

- [Redacted]
- [Redacted]
- [Redacted]
- [Redacted]
- [Redacted]

[Redacted]
[Redacted]
[Redacted]

- [Redacted]
 - [Redacted]
 - [Redacted]
 - [Redacted]
- [Redacted]

menu

Wrecks off No. County

Ballintoy to Torr Head

Ballintoy

- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]

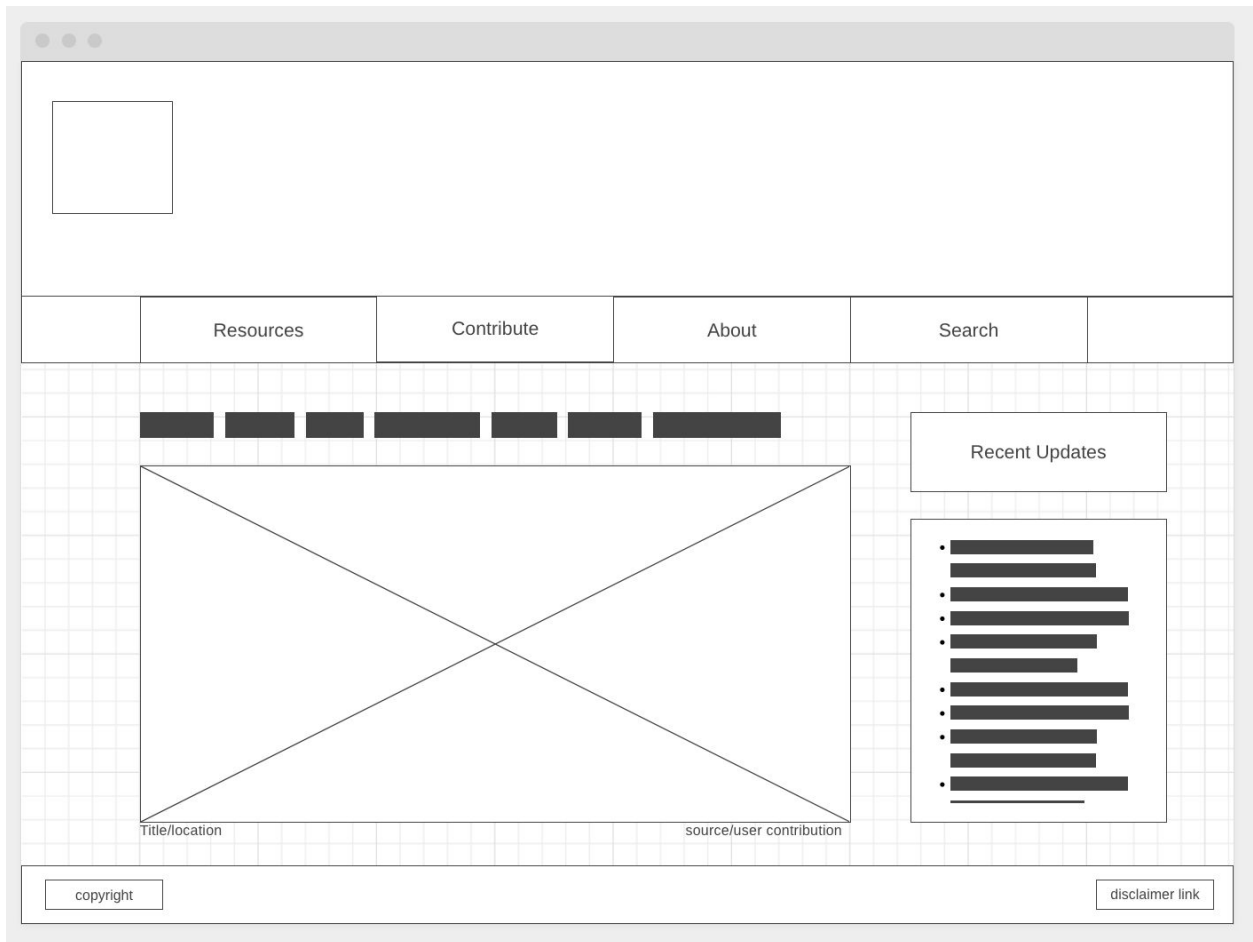

Ballycastle

- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]

Bebanehead

- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]
- [REDACTED]

c.Homepage desktop view

Design palette

Color scheme

	#476A6F	Menu background
	#8C9FA3	Menu hover

#C7CEDB

Background

#5085A5

Footer Accent color

Font Choices

<h1> (Oswald: headline/subsite title)

A Diver's Guide to Shipwrecks Around the Irish Coast

<h2> (Raleway: county to county)

Ballintoy to Torr's Head

<h3> (Roboto sans-serif: county name)

Dublin Co.

 (Roboto Light sans-serif: descriptions)

Caught fire in harbour; probably salvaged; Rathlin for Ballintoy

 (Roboto Light sans-serif: underline or italicize on hover)

disclaimer link Belfast Lough

Mobile Navigation Menu

Desktop Navigation Menu

All menu items change color on mouseover.

Mouseover on shipwreck lists (subpage)

On mouseover, individual list items italicize.

Heading on the homepage to clearly describe the site. Example of H1.

A DIVER'S GUIDE TO THE SHIPWRECKS AROUND IRELAND

Subheading on the homepage to break up sections.

Recent Updates